

Demand More—and Get It!

It's okay to be demanding when you have the new WX570 workstation from Howard. Why? Because, it really delivers! Powered by the latest Intel® Core i3, i5, or i7 processors, with features that include XMP memory profiles, RAID, an integrated gigabit NIC, and next-generation graphics from NVIDIA and ATI, the WX570 offers a higher level of computing performance that is just right for sophisticated, graphic-intensive programs like AutoCAD, Photoshop, and other 3D applications. For users that need more power, flexibility, and reliability than is available from high-end business desktop PCs, Howard's WX570 provides an excellent alternative. The WX570 comes with your choice of Microsoft's Windows® 7, Vista®, and XP, and is priced lower than traditional workstations. When it comes to performance, it's simple—demand more, and get it!

Howard Technology Solutions recommends genuine Microsoft® Windows® 7 Professional.

Q: What is Dual-Channel Memory?

A: Dual-Channel mode is enabled when identical matched memory modules are installed in each of the two memory channels, allowing for higher throughput, and reduced latency.

Q: What is RAID?

A: RAID (Redundant Array of Independent Disks) is a technology that allows a system to utilize two or more hard disk drives as a single storage unit in order to increase performance, reliability, and/or contiguous storage space

Q: What is XMP Memory?

A: Intel® XMP is a performance-packed expansion of the standard DDR3 memory specification, enabling a robust, overclocking solution, designed to take advantage of the features built into Intel® technology-based PCs.
