Q: What is SDDR2 and why is it important?

A: DDR2 is the next evolutionary step in the DDR infrastructure and has additional features built into it to allow for increased system performance.

Q: What is Vista?

A: Microsoft Vista is the newest operating system from Microsoft that will be available to the public early next year.

Q: What is Intel Core Duo technology?

A: Intel Core Duo technology puts the power of two cutting edge processors in the space of one. As a result, this space saving design gives an amazing power and performance increase. This design uses relatively the same amount of power as a single core processor giving your system an extended battery life while producing more power.

Q: Does Howard Technology Solutions offer installation services?

A: Yes, Howard Technology Solutions has a Network Services Group that can do installation of systems as well as network analysis and other technical services.

Q: What is LifeGuard recovery solution?

A: Howard LifeGuard recovery solution is a smart recovery management system. If your PC becomes unstable or your operating system is damaged, then the Howard LifeGuard recovery system can restore your system to factory condition or a backup you've created. The LifeGuard system can be used by pressing F4 at the PC's startup screen.

Q: Whom should I contact for support?
